13. Standing Orders

13.1 The Agenda

The Agenda shall be read aloud by the Chairman at the opening of the meeting.

13.2 Definition of Motions

The first motion on any subject shall be the original motion and succeeding propositions on that subject taken as amendments. An original motion that has been amended shall become the substantive motion, and shall be open to further amendment. Procedural motions (SO 13.9) shall be treated as amendments but shall take precedence over other amendments.

13.3 Right to Reply

The mover of an original motion shall have the right to reply to the debate on that motion, or if an amendment is discussed, to the debate on the first amendment to his motion, unless the debate is terminated by carrying 'Next Business' (SO 13.9). If he replies, the Chairman shall take the vote immediately after his speech without further discussion or questions.

13.4 Speech Reserved

The seconder of a motion or an amendment may second formally and reserve his speech until later in the debate.

13.5 Amendments One at a Time

The Chairman shall not accept more than one amendment at a time to any original or substantive motion, but after any amendment has been moved and seconded and before it has been put to the vote, he may accept notice of a further amendment. Nevertheless, a procedural motion (SO 13.9) debate shall be suspended for consideration of another procedural motion.

13.6 Putting the Substantive Motion

When an amendment to an original motion has been carried the resulting substantive motion shall be put to the meeting unless a further amendment, of which notice has been given, is carried, and in every case (except when 'Next Business' has been carried), the substantive motion in its final form shall be put to the vote before the meeting proceeds to the next business.

13.7 Withdrawal or Modification of a Motion

No original motion or amendment which has been moved and seconded shall be withdrawn, nor shall any words be added or deleted from it, without the consent of the meeting, but if the meeting consents to any modification the Chairman shall formally announce the motion in its modified form.

13.8 Inadmissible Motion

The Chairman shall not accept any motion or amendment that repeats the substance of a proposition previously voted on by the meeting.

13.9 Procedural Motions

A debate may be brought to an end by a motion:

- a) That the vote be now taken (the Vote)
- b) That the meeting proceed to next business (the Next Business)
- c) That the discussion or the meeting be adjourned (the Adjournment)

No member who has already spoken on the motion or amendment under debate may move any of the motions. The motion to adjourn must state the period of adjournment. To end the debate, without committing the meeting to a decision 'for' or 'against' the proposition, a member must move 'Next Business'.

The Chairman shall not accept any of these motions, as, in his opinion, the effect of carrying it would be unfair.

If the Chairman accepts the 'Vote' and it is seconded, he shall put it to the meeting without debate.

If it is carried he shall put the motion under discussion to the vote without further debate, unless the mover of the original motion is entitled to reply.

If the Chairman accepts the 'Next Business' and it is seconded, he shall put it to the meeting without debate. If it is carried, the original motion, together with any amendments that have been carried, shall be of no effect, and the meeting shall proceed to the next item on the Agenda. If the Chairman accepts the 'Adjournment' and it is formally seconded, he may allow one speech 'for' and one 'against'. If it is carried, the debate shall be resumed as it stood at the adjournment and the Chairman or the Secretary shall then remind the meeting of the terms of the original motion and of any amendments that have been discussed.

13.10 Order

Speakers shall address the Chair. Any member called to order by the Chairman shall resume his seat.

13.11 Points of Order

Any member wishing to raise a point of order shall arise and address the Chair. If another member is speaking he shall immediately give way and await the Chairman's ruling.

13.12 Chairman's Ruling

The Chairman's ruling on a question of order or procedure shall be final unless challenged by three members. In that case the Secretary shall immediately put the motion: 'The Chairman's ruling be upheld'. He shall declare this motion carried unless the number who vote against it is at least double the number of who vote for it.

13.13 Voting

Voting shall be by a show of hands unless a motion to take a ballot on a motion or election is moved and carried before the vote on that motion or election is taken.

13.14 Suspension of Standing Orders

Any Standing Order may be suspended upon the motion of a member, duly seconded, if the number of those voting 'for' is at least twice the number of those voting 'against'.

Standing Orders shall come into force again automatically after the vote has been taken on the business for the conduct of which they were suspended.

13.15 Amendment of Standing Orders

These Standing Orders shall be amended only at the AGM and after terms of any proposed amendments have been duly circulated by the Secretary with the notice of the meeting.
